The 911 has become a fixture of popular culture. Ironic, considering it has never once stood still.

Movies. Television. Music. The Porsche 911 has influenced culture for half a century. Which is no surprise to drivers who know, first hand, why it's become an icon. The 50th Anniversary edition 911 honors that legacy with special features including increased track width, a Powerkit, which increases engine output to 430-hp, and an interior fabric pattern hearkening back to the original 911. Limited to just 1963 examples, the 50th Anniversary edition 911 delivers the kind of inspiring sports car performance celebrated by culture. Not to mention, its driver. Porsche. There is no substitute.

LIVE COVERAGE

Those of us who follow the races in Europe, know that live coverage is usually hard to find in the USA. At best, we get one to two hours, or in-car cams while listening to Radio Le Mans. That's it.

Good news! More recently FIA got smart. Visit www.FIAWEC.com/app.html and watch live coverage on your favorite mobile or tablet. While the App itself is free, there's a small fee for watching the race.

LETTER FROM THE PRESIDENT

Mike Karluk
President,
Western Michigan Region

Exciting things are happening in the world of Porsche these days beyond the fact that our shining steeds have come out of winter storage. On the observer front, Porsche returns to Le Mans this month for the first time in sixteen years with a prototype racer. More locally, the Detroit Belle Isle Grand Prix/TUDOR United SportsCar Championship on May 31 provided the opportunity to see GT Daytona class Porsches in action.

On the production front, Porsche is releasing the new Macan compact SUV and GTS variants of the 981 Cayman and Boxster. There clearly is some dynamic tension between Porsche purists who view the Cayenne, Panamera, and Macan with varying degrees of acceptance (or scorn), those who appreciate them as outstanding vehicles, and those who recognize that these models provide the financial underpinning of Porsche's continued development of top-tier sports cars for the street and track. I personally never even considered owning an SUV until last October when, in a "what the heck" moment, I upgraded my mid-size rental to a Cayenne for a one-day trip. Barb and I were impressed by it before we even cleared the Savannah airport and suddenly the thought of having a Macan diesel for a daily driver when they are released in the US in 2015 is enticing. The tantalizing Cayman GTS in its special Carmine Red color, however, truly quickens my pulse. There's an old Latin phrase, de gustibus non disputandum est, which loosely translates as "there's no arguing about taste". To my taste, this new Cayman GTS, with its lower front spoiler that more closely resembles the 918 Spyder's nose, the lower rear apron design, and the black surround headlight trim, is the best looking production Porsche since the 356 Speedster.

On the local participation front, things really get rolling in June, with many group opportunities to join your old and new WMR Porsche friends. For those not able to attend the National Parade in Monterey, CA, Len and Bonnie Gawron are hosting the Parade Orphans Lunch Drive on June 14th. Ralph and Denise Ford are hosting the Spring-Up to Traverse City weekend drive on June 21 and Tim Thatcher hosts the Euro Autowerks Open House on June 28. I look forward to seeing you all. Here's to many smiles per gallon as we motor down the road of summer 2014 in West Michigan! — Mike

IN REVIEW: SPRING BRUNCH

BY WOLFGANG & MILUZKA BUBECK · PHOTOS BY WOLFGANG BUBECK

On April 27 a small group WMR PCA members joined the Bubeck's Spring Brunch Event at Cygnus 27. Located on the 27th floor of the Amway Grand Plaza Hotel stunning downtown views greeted our guests, as well as delicious drinks and food. Thanks to all, who came out to celebrate life's simple pleasures as we watched a very long winter melt away. Below are a few impressions, for all those who couldn't make it. Hope to see you next time!

IN REVIEW: SPORTING CLAYS

BY JERRY ARENS & AMBER DOOR

Again this year WMR members and their guests mixed up it up in the woods with shot guns and clay targets. Our seventeen shooters, along with 6 spectator members spent several hours walking through the wood on a beautiful Michigan spring morning to make the world safe for all those that fear orange disks.

Our top shooter of the day was Eric Spross with 33 of 50 clays followed by John Walters with 23. Our top women shooters, Lina Spross and Marshall Walters were tied with 8 hits each.

The best part was that everyone that participated, regardless of prior experience (and there were some that had never shot a shotgun), were successful in “killing” more than 260 of the dangerous orange clay disks.

Following our round of clays, with the sun shining, we all sauntered in our Porsches (covering 39 years of Porsche history) through eastern Ottawa county to our final destination of the day - Rush Creek Bistro at Sunnybrook County Club for a casual lunch and many shooting stories.

We hope to see you next time -- to help us continue to rid Western Michigan of the invasive clay.

*Ready. Aim. Fire. —

PART 2 Brake Fluid - The Critical Link.

To maintain the integrity of your car's braking system, we recommend that brake fluids be changed every two years or anytime you need a brake job, such as replacing pads and rotors.

In addition, using brake fluid with the correct viscosity and boiling point is critical to proper brake function. We recommend that you always use the correct fluid per the manufacturer's recommendation or application, such as with D.E. or race cars.

The chart below lists the various brake fluid types along with specifications and a comment regarding each.

Silicone brake fluid, at first glance, seems like a good idea, but here are some reasons to not use it:

1. Compatibility - Never mix with other fluids! If you want to use it you must change ALL hydraulic components.
2. Compressibility - Silicone fluid is more compressible, giving you a softer/spongy pedal
3. Incompatible - It is not to be used with ABS Systems
4. Moisture - It does not absorb moisture so any moisture present in the system "puddles" at low points in the hydraulic system.
5. Sealing - Silicone fluid can pass through small pores and/or gaskets, making it difficult to seal or prevent leaks.

Other Braking Performance Considerations

- Pad material - The type of pad material (ceramic, semi-metallic, etc.) affects pedal pressure and stopping ability.
- Rubber Brake Hoses - Hoses swell with age, become brittle and crack, or can collapse inside. Hoses should be inspected with every brake job and replaced as necessary.

In summary, it's important to have your braking system inspected and maintained by a qualified technician, familiar with your car's systems. Proper maintenance of this system can go a long way in assuring the safety and performance of your car. — Tim Thatcher

We are looking forward to seeing each of you at our Open house on June 28th, beginning at 10:00AM.

CHARACTERISTICS OF COMMON BRAKING FLUIDS

Type	Dry Boiling Point	Wet Boiling Point	Viscosity Limit	Primary Constituent	Comment
DOT 2	190°C (374°F)	140°C (284°F)	?	Castor Oil/Alcohol	Rarely used any longer
	205°C (401°F)	140°C (284°F)	1500 mm ² /s	Glycol Ether	Most common fluid on early drum brakes
	230°C (446°F)	155°C (311°F)	1800 mm ² /s	Glycol Ether/Borate Ester	Most common fluid on today's cars
	260°C (500°F)	180°C (356°F)	900 mm ² /s	Silicone	Not recommended for most applications
DOT 5.1	260°C (500°F)	180°C (356°F)	900 mm ² /s	Glycol Ether/Borate Ester	Some racing applications. Entering the new dye can be used to upgrade from DOT 3/4

NEVER SUBSTITUTE OR MIX ANY DOT 2/3/4/5.1 WITH DOT 5 SILICONE!
